

Types of Houses

Detached House

A Detached House stands on its own. It has no other houses joined to it.

Semi-Detached House

Semi-Detached are two houses joined together by a common wall.

Terraced House

A Terraced House is a house situated in a long row of houses. They usually look the same. Both sides of each house in the row share common walls with a neighbouring house, with the exception with the houses at each end of the terrace.

Block of Flats

A Block of Flats is a large building divide into flats where all the flats share a front door.

Bungalow

A Bungalow is built on one level (one storey). It doesn't have any stairs.

Cottage

A Cottage is a small house, usually in the countryside. Cottages are houses that usually come with one and half storeys. The top floor is much smaller than the ground floor.

Villa

A Villa is a big luxurious detached house with a secure big central garden and often with a swimming pool.

Mansion

A Mansion is a very large detached house.

Studio

A Studio apartment is a small apartment, which combines living room, bedroom and Kitchenette into a single room, barring a bathroom.

Hut

A Hut is a small crude shelter used as a house.

Houseboat

A Houseboat is a boat designed and equipped for use as a house.

Caravan

A Caravan is a house on wheels.
