

Spelling	Pronunciation	Odd word out
Correct it	Irregular verbs	Social language
Prepositions	Antonyms	Verbs and nouns

Spelling	Pronunciation	Odd word out
Correct it	Irregular verbs	Social language
Prepositions	Antonyms	Verbs and nouns

Spelling	Pronunciation	Odd word out
Correct it	Irregular verbs	Social language
Prepositions	Antonyms	Verbs and nouns

Spelling	Pronunciation	Odd word out
Correct it	Irregular verbs	Social language
Prepositions	Antonyms	Verbs and nouns

Spelling	Pronunciation	Odd word out
Correct it	Irregular verbs	Social language
Prepositions	Antonyms	Verbs and nouns

Spelling	Pronunciation	Odd word out
Correct it	Irregular verbs	Social language
Prepositions	Antonyms	Verbs and nouns

Question Sheet

SPELLING

Ask: How do you spell ...?

couple	neighbour	knives	height
nephew	foreign	librarian	exhausting
literature	luxury	wealth	earthquake

PRONUNCIATION

Write the word and ask: How do you say it?

nervous	clothes	injured	raw
chemist	gadget	miserable	multicultural
politician	blouse	whisper	fashionable
backache	government

CONDITIONALS

What's the missing word? Read out the sentence.

Answers are in brackets.

I'll help you with your homework, if I ____ time. (have)
If I lived in the countryside, my life ____ be less stressful. (would)
If you train hard, you ____ the race. (win)
If I ____ such a small kitchen, I would do more cooking. (have)
I ____ lend you my dictionary, if you give it back after class. (will)
I ____ buy a flat in the city centre, if I were you. It's too expensive. (wouldn't)

SOCIAL LANGUAGE

Ask: How would you answer? and read out the expression.

Thank you for the lovely meal. (You're welcome / It was a pleasure.)
I've passed all my exams! (Congratulations! / Well done!)
I've failed my driving test. (What a shame. / Sorry to hear that.)
Could you pass me some bread, please? (Yes, of course. / Yes, here you are.)
Would you mind opening the window? (No, of course not.)
Oh no, I've broken a glass. (Never mind. / Don't worry. / It doesn't matter.)

ANTONYMS (OPPOSITES)

Ask: What's the opposite? and say the word.

huge (tiny / very small)	smart (casual)	lend (borrow)
messy (tidy)	cruel (kind)	false (true)
decrease (increase)	warm (cool)
employee (boss / manager)	moody (cheerful)

CORRECT IT

Say: Correct it and read out a sentence.

Why you are studying German? (Why are you studying German?)
I was seeing a really interesting documentary on television last night. (I saw a really interesting documentary on television last night.)
What does the weather like? (What is the weather like?)
I've known Cathy since a long time. (I've known Cathy for a long time.)
How often have I to take these pills? (How often do I have to take these pills?)
Millions of questions is answered by Google every day. (Millions of questions are answered by Google every day.)

IRREGULAR VERBS

Ask: What is the past participle of ...? and say the verb.

buy (bought)	pay (paid)	become (became)
write (written)	lose (lost)	ride (ridden)
know (known)	meet (met)	go (gone)
eat (eaten)

PREPOSITIONS

Ask: What's the preposition? and read out the sentence.

Try to keep ____ touch when you move to New York. (in)
All the teachers are ____ strike. (on)
We might go to the beach, it depends ____ the weather. (on)
The earthquake caused a lot of damage ____ the buildings. (to)
I'm very different ____ my sister. (from)
My mum didn't help me with my homework. I did it ____ myself. (by)

VERBS AND NOUNS

Ask: What's the verb? and read out the sentence.

Can you ____ me the date. (tell)
Bob is ____ some research with bilingual children. (doing)
I can't ____ the car. Can you call the mechanic? (start)
I'd like to ____ a complaint about the service in this hotel. (make)
What size shoes do you ____? (take)
Neil is very healthy, he ____ running every morning. (goes)